Budget Forecast Model

Customized to your district, the Baird Budget Forecast Model brings accuracy, flexibility and what-if illustrations to your district's financial planning, while gaining resources and tools along the way.

Wisconsin School District leaders today are expected to:

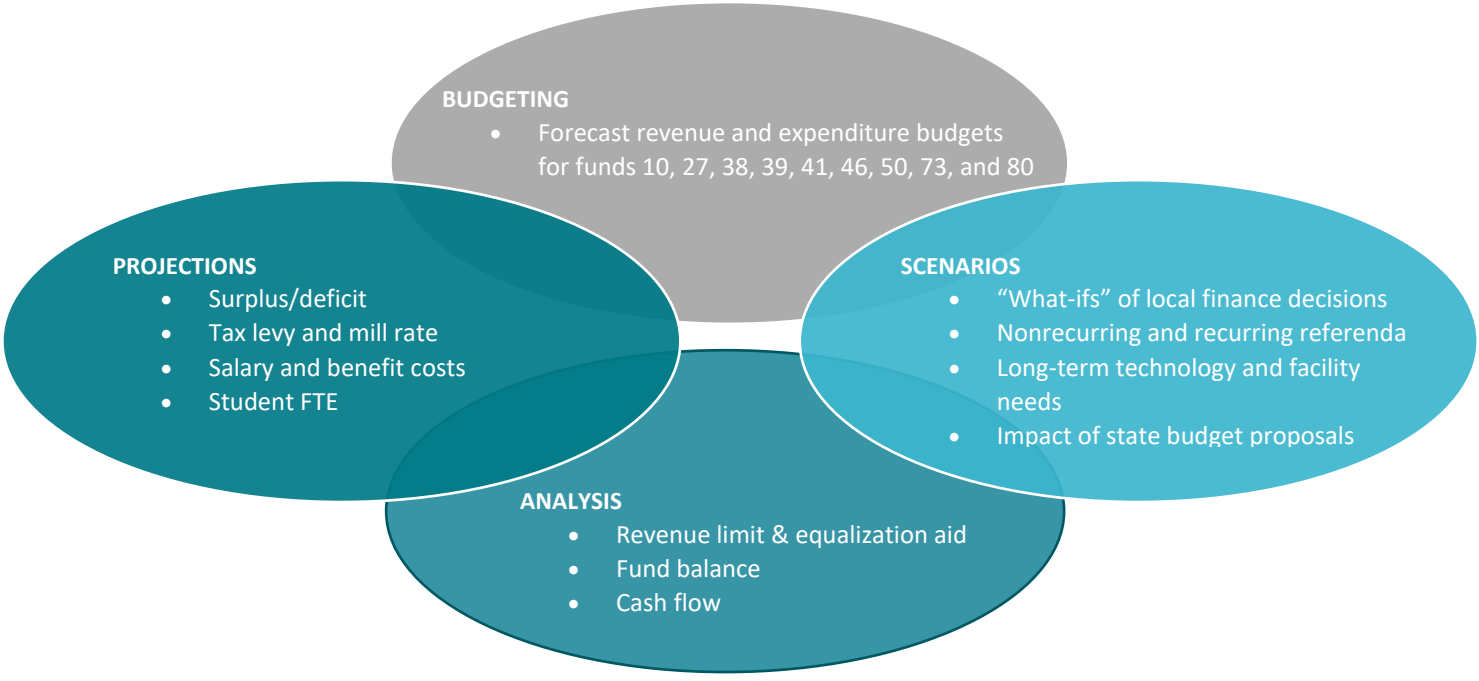

- Be school finance experts-regardless of experience
- Responsibly manage budget dollars and the tax levy while enhancing student opportunities
- Create plans and build budgets before state and local figures are available
- Provide clear and consistent school finance communication around school finance topics

The Baird Budget Forecast Model:

- Is used as a teaching and learning tool
- Provides estimates early in the budget process that allows districts to model multiple "what-if" scenarios
- Helps plan for short and long-term financial needs while providing communication tools along the way
- Allows districts to be agile with budget decision making

With the Baird Budget Forecast Model, districts receive:

- One-on-one support from experienced business officials and school finance experts
- Networking opportunities with other superintendents and business officials
- Early planning estimates for state figures as well as "just in time" information to aid in budget analysis
- District-specific analysis as well as teaching and learning opportunities year-round
